

Scouting changes lives.
Girl Scouts change the world.

About this Initiative

Children in foster
or kinship care
can join for free.

- WV has more children in foster & kinship care per capita than any other state
- These children are more likely to face homelessness, incarceration & substance use disorders as adults
- Their future outcomes can be improved by participation in programs that teach life skills, build confidence, & create a caring environment
- This is why the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation & the Bernard McDonough Foundation provided funding to allow children in foster & kinship care to join Girl Scouts for free
